Fill in the following graph with how many minutes you do on each of the following days of the week over the summer. Remember that the scale is two minutes per square. At the end of the summer, add up all of your minutes to see if you met the 100 minute goal!